

THE TABLE TOPPERS

To set off our spread of stealthily healthy edibles to perfection, we needed a winning tableau. Ours celebrates the rigorously architectural forms many table accessories have taken of late, including Studio Swine's brushed silver condiment set, Bloc Studios' modular marble podiums and Pietro Russo's brass fruit stand, set upon Caesarstone's 'Frozen Terra' surface.

THE SWEET

KUF Studios has made an art of creating trompe l'oeil cakes that look like solid objects. Its latest venture is terrazzo chocolate, seen here coating cakes filled with rhubarb, white chocolate and rum ganache. Not only does it look like the real deal, but the chocolate packs a nutritive punch as the algae-based colourings are drenched in vitamins and minerals. kufstudios.com

THE LIQUID REFRESHMENT

Non-alcoholic drinks brand Seedlip has been working with pioneering mixing masters, such as London's Ryan Chetiyawardana and Barcelona's Giacomo Giannotti, to push the low-alcohol agenda. It has recently published a book featuring 100 spirited mocktail ideas. We picked the Eliza, made from Seedlip's Spice 94 and charred cassia bark, for our saintly spread. seedlipdrinks.com

THE SAVOURY

Chef Thierry Marx and designer Ora-ïto are changing the fast food game with Marxito, a pink-hued street food diner near Paris' Champs-Élysées. Inspired by Japanese dorayaki pancakes, the Marxito sandwich contains a range of fillings, such as avocado, smoked mozzarella, tofu and pickled radish. All ingredients come from small or local producers. marxito.com

STEALTH HEALTH

Virtuous victuals served on architectural table toppers

PHOTOGRAPHY: GUSTAV ALMESTÅL INTERIORS: AMY HEFFERNAN WRITERS: EMMA MOORE, AMY SERAFIN

'Frozen Terra' surface, price on request, by Caesarstone. 'Fundamentals' table set, price on request, by Studio Swine and Giampaolo Babetto, for Doppia Firma. 'Totem' centrepiece, €719, by Objects of Common Interest, for Bloc Studios. 'Capelo' dome, $1,000, by Manuel Muñoz, for Ángulo Cero. 'Open Block' platter, €280, by Omri Revesz,

for Pibamarmi. 'Gironi' fruit stand, price on request, by Pietro Russo. 'Siment Flyover' vase, £79, by Tiipoi. For stockists, see page 169